ICPSR DATA DOCUMENTATION NOTES

- 1) The data documentation file includes the following documents which were provided by the principal investigators:
  - Crime During the Transition to Adulthood: How Youth Fare as They Leave Out-of-Home Care Public-use Data Codebook
  - SPSS syntax document that details how analysis variables created from the original Midwest Study were computed
  - Midwest Study of the Adult Functioning of Former Foster Youth Wave 1 Instrument
  - Midwest Study of the Adult Functioning of Former Foster Youth Wave 2 Instrument
  - Midwest Study of the Adult Functioning of Former Foster Youth Wave 3 Instrument
  - Midwest Study Consent Form
- 2) ICPSR added value labels to values in the WAVE1, WAVE2, WAVE3, CLOSEMOM_W1, CLOSEDAD_W1, and CLOSECAREGIVER_W1 variables in the dataset based upon information contained in the original Public-use Data Codebook.
- 3) In order to better understand how analysis variables created from the original Midwest Study were computed, secondary users of the data can use the SPSS syntax document in conjunction with the original Midwest Study instruments. This syntax duplicates the procedures that are described in the methods section of the full report: NCJ 229666 (Cusick, Courtney, Havlicek, and Hess, 2010). Please note that this syntax only contains recoding detail for variables created directly from the Midwest Study. In some cases, variables in this data collection were created for other purposes outside the scope of this NIJ research using complex clinical data scaling procedures (e.g. alcohol and drug dependence diagnosis and mental health diagnosis, victim of sexual abuse/assault). Other variables were created from administrative sources (e.g. official arrests, entry age into foster care). Therefore, syntax was not provided for these variables.
- 4) Users should be aware that the full Midwest Study Instruments are being distributed for reference purposes only. The original Midwest Study of the Adult Functioning of Former Foster Youth (Midwest Study) data are not publicly available. Only the variables listed in the Public-use Data Codebook and the separate ICPSR codebook are being distributed through ICPSR.

Introduction

This document contains information on variables used in the study “Crime during the Transition to Adulthood: How Youth Fare as They Leave Out-of-Home Care”. These are secondary data with newly derived variables from an existing non-public use dataset.

Data for this project originally come from The Midwest Study of the Adult Functioning of Former Foster Youth, which is a longitudinal panel study of 732 youth that is part of a collaborative effort of the state public child welfare agencies in Illinois, Iowa, and Wisconsin, Chapin Hall at the University of Chicago, and the University of Washington. Original survey data were collected directly from the youth in the sample over three waves. Respondents participated in in-person interviews that were approximately ninety minutes long. The interview schedule was made up almost entirely of fixed response questions. During the first wave of interviews, conducted between May 2002 and March 2003, 732 interviews were completed. Youth were between the ages of 17 and 18 when they were first interviewed. The second interview took place in March through December 2004, between respondents’ 19th and 20th birthdays. At Wave 2, 603 youth were located, for a follow-up response rate of 83 percent. The third wave of interviews, conducted between March 2006 and January 2007, took place as soon as possible after their 21st birthday. At Wave 3, 590 of the original sample took part, for a response rate of 81 percent.

This public use dataset includes some variables directly measured from the original survey instrument and several variables derived for the purposes of the current study. Coding of variables included in this public use data are described below, organized by topic in the following data tables. Additional information on the creation of variables can be found in the full study report.

Non-responses to items (either because a respondent did not answer a particular question or because a respondent did not participate in the survey interview) are left blank (missing) in the dataset.

Out-of-home Care Experiences

The final group of variables contains measures that track an individual's experience within the child welfare system. These include age at the time of first placement, the total number of placements they experienced, and type of placements at the Wave 1 survey.

Respondents were also asked whether they had received any federally funded training or services through the John H. Chafee Foster Care Independence Program as they prepared to transition out of care. These services include education, employment, financial management, housing, health education, and youth development. The variable included in the dataset is a sum of the number of positive responses to the relevant survey items.

ils_sum_w1	Sum of any ILS services at Wave 1	Sum of 47 dichotomous items

Social Bonds Variables

Social bonds variables include measures of parent (both maternal and paternal) and foster caregiver attachment based on a 4 point ordinal scale of closeness, and two variables indicating whether a respondent had no mother or father present in their life. Other variables include employment, educational aspirations, and school/college enrollment status.

There are also two scale variables, one measuring perceived social support (based on the MOS Social Support Survey<sup>2</sup>) and another measuring how likely an individual was to turn to the child welfare system for help. Both of these measures come from combining multiple items in the original data.

Variable Name	Description	Coding / Scale

missdad	No dad or stepdad indicator	0 = no; 1 = yes
closecargiver_w1	Caregiver closeness scale at Wave 1	1 = not close; 2 = not very close; 3 = somewhat close; 4 = very close
inchool_w1; inschool_w2; inschool_w3	In school at Wave 1, 2, 3*	0 = no; 1 = yes

<sup>2</sup> Documentation on this social support scale can be found in Sherbourne and Stewart, 1991 and at http://www.rand.org/health/surveys\_tools/mos/mos\_socialsupport\_scoring.html.

\ Note: Education and employment variables at waves 2 and 3 were created only for those respondents interviewed at all three waves (n=438). These measures are included as covariates in the Latent Class Analysis examining classes of offending over time. Therefore, these variables are missing for the remaining 294 respondents not included in this analysis.*

Thank you for your continued participation in the Midwest Young Adult Study. You will recall that back when you were 17 we interviewed you for our study of youth in the foster care system. Your answers to our questions then, along with those of nearly 800 other young men and women, were included in a report that has been submitted to state policy makers who are responsible for writing laws, spending tax money, and developing and changing programs to help young adults just like yourself. For this, the second wave of the study, your ongoing cooperation and careful answers to the questions I have are equally important because they reflect a more complete picture of your experience during and/or after foster care placement.

Let's begin with questions about your current living arrangements and your involvement with the child welfare system.

Now I want to ask you some questions about where you have lived since we last interviewed you on [fill l_monthn] [fill l_date], [fill l_year].

By the age of 19, most young adults who have lived in the foster care system have already left the care of the system. That is, they no longer have a social worker who supervises their care and they are no longer in the custody of the juvenile court. Still, in some cases the court allows young adults to remain in the system past the age of 19 either in a foster home, group home or other residential care placement, or in a supervised independent living arrangement.

Now I would like to ask you some questions about how you left the care of the child welfare system.

Youth leave foster care for a variety of reasons. Some people reach the age of 18, or 19 if they're still in school, and are discharged by the foster care agency. This sometimes means they have to leave the foster or group care setting, or home of relatives where they were staying.

Others choose to leave care before they would otherwise be discharged. They do this for a number of reasons: to get married, to join the military, to get a job, or they simply leave because they no longer want to be there.

[#Sexual Abuse Questions]

>abuse_intro< [no data][define <d> <-1>][define <r> <-2>][start timer]

Now we are going to move on to another topic. We'd like to ask you some questions about sexual abuse. Sometimes a person may do sexual things to a young person that the young person doesn't want. These unwanted sexual things can happen to boys as well as girls, and to young men as well as young women. People who try to do unwanted sexual things to young people are not always strangers. They can be someone you know well like a friend, neighbor, teacher, coach, counselor, baby-sitter, minister, or priest. They can even be a boyfriend or family member. They can even be a parent. People who try to make young people do unwanted sexual things aren't always men or boys, they can also be women or girls.

I would like you to think about any experiences you've had where someone tried to make you do something sexual you didn't want to do, no matter who did it, how long ago it happened or whether or not it was reported to the police or other authorities. Once again I'd like to remind you that everything you say is confidential.

Thank you for your continued participation in the Midwest Young Adult Study. The last time we interviewed you was in [fill l_monthn], [fill l_year].

Along with several hundred other young adults who participated in the study, the information you provided was included in a report that has been submitted to state policy makers who are responsible for writing laws, spending tax money, and developing and changing programs designed for young adults just like yourself. Your ongoing cooperation has been greatly appreciated. This information will create a more comprehensive picture of your experiences after leaving foster care. We will be asking you questions about what has happened to you since we last talked.

Let's begin with questions about your current living arrangements.

Children often do things that are wrong, disobey or make their parents angry. We would like to know what you have done when your child did something wrong or made you upset or angry. Please tell me how many times you have done the following things to your child during the past year: never, once, twice, three to five times, six to ten times, eleven to twenty times, or more than twenty times?

Now we'd like to ask you some questions about sexual abuse. Sometimes unwanted sexual things happen to young people like yourself. These unwanted sexual things can happen to males as well as females. People who try to do unwanted sexual things to young people can be strangers or people they know well including friends or family members. They can be male as well as female. I would like you to think about experiences you've had since we last talked to you in [fill l_monthn] of [fill l_year] where someone tried to make you do something sexual you didn't want to do, no matter who did it, or whether it was reported to the police or other authorities. Midwest Evaluation of Adult Outcomes of Former Foster Youth Study
Consent to Participate in Research

❖ What is this study?

The Department of Children and Family Services in Illinois, the Department of Human Services in Iowa, and the Department of Health and Family Services in Wisconsin are funding this study to learn about the services that foster youth receive while they are in care. They also want to find out what happens to foster youth after they leave the child welfare system. Approximately 700 foster youth have been participating in the study. All of the youth were interviewed when they were 17 or 18 years. More than six hundred were interviewed a second time at age 19. This is the third round of interviews.

I will tell you more about the study and what we would like you to do today. I will also try to answer any questions you might have. Then you can decide whether or not to participate. This process is called “informed consent.” You will receive a copy of this form to keep.

❖ Who is doing this study?

This study is being done by Chapin Hall Center for Children at the University of Chicago and the University of Wisconsin Survey Center. If you have any questions or concerns about this study, please contact either:

Principal Investigator
Chapin Hall Center for Children

If you agree to participate in this study and feel that your rights have been violated, or you were not treated fairly, please contact:

❖ What will we ask you to do?

If you agree to participate in the study, you will be asked a series of questions by an interviewer from the University of Wisconsin Survey Center. The interview will probably take between 90 minutes and 2 hours. The interview can be done in your home or wherever is convenient for you. If you can't be interviewed in person, you can be interviewed by telephone.

Some of the questions deal with topics that can be difficult to talk about. If you are interviewed in person, these questions will be asked using Audio Computer Aided Self Interviewing (Audio CASI). This involves listening to pre-recorded questions through headphones and entering your answers into a computer. The interviewer will not see your answers to these questions. Because the Audio CASI cannot be used if you are interviewed by telephone, you will not be asked those questions if you do a telephone interview.

Regardless of whether you are interviewed in-person or by telephone, you do not have to answer any questions that you don't feel comfortable answering and you have the right to stop the interview at anytime.

❖ What kind of questions will you be asked?

You will be asked about your experiences while you were in foster care, including the services you received, and about your experiences since leaving foster care. Among the topics that will be covered are:

- Health and mental health
- Relationships with family members
- Education and employment
- Government benefits and economic well-being
- Criminal behaviors
- Sexual behaviors
- Use of alcohol and other drugs
- Victimization
- Parenting

If you are interviewed in-person, the questions about criminal behaviors, sexual behaviors, alcohol or other drug use and victimization as well as some of the parenting questions will be asked using the Audio CASI.

❖ Will we get information about you from other sources?

Yes. The first time we interviewed you, we asked for your permission to review various kinds of administrative data such as department of motor vehicle records, education records, public assistance records, credit bureau records, and criminal justice records that might contain information about you. If information contained in criminal justice records is used, we will respect all state local laws regarding the confidentiality of those data.

We will use any information we obtain from other sources in two ways. First, we will use it to help locate you in the event that we want to interview you again. Second, we will use it to help us better understand what has happened to you since leaving foster care. However, you can still participate in the study even if you do not give us permission to use this information.

❖ Will the information about you be kept confidential?

Yes. We will not share the information you provide us, or the information we get from other sources, with anyone other than members of the research team. We will keep all of your information private by:

- Not putting your name on any written records except for the consent form and keeping that consent form in a separate place;
- Storing the information about you in a locked drawer or in a secure password protected computer;
- Only giving people on the research team access to your information;
- Not using your name or any other identifying information in reports, presentations or papers;
- Destroying identifying information after a period of ten (10) years from the date of your first interview;
- Keeping only the de-identified data indefinitely as a public use data set.

We obtained a Certificate of Confidentiality from the federal government for this study to help insure your privacy. This means that the researchers cannot be forced to tell the courts or other people who are not connected with the study about your participation without your written consent. However, if you report that you are planning to harm yourself or someone else, the certificate does not insure your privacy.

❖ How will we use the information about you?

We will use the information about you and the other foster youth in this study in reports we write for the three participating states (Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois), in presentations we make at conferences, and in papers that may be published. No names or identifying information will be included in those reports, presentations or papers.

We will also use this information to create a data set that other researchers can use. However, this public use data set will not include any information that could be used to identify you.

❖ What are the risks associated with participating in this study?

Some of the questions you are asked may make you feel uncomfortable. You do not have to answer any of these questions. It is also important for you to know that the interviewer will need to notify the appropriate authorities if you report evidence of child abuse or if you threaten violence to yourself or others. However, none of your answers to the questions in the Audio CASI portion of the interview will be known to the interviewer.

❖ What are the benefits of participating in this study?

Participating in this study is an opportunity for you to tell officials in your state about your experiences while in and after leaving foster care. This information may be used to improve the services that foster youth receive. Many former foster youth appreciate this chance to tell their story and be listened to.

❖ Will you be paid if you participate in the study?

Yes. You will be paid $35 for participating in this study. You will still receive this $35 payment even if you do not answer all of the questions or you end the interview early.

❖ If you agree to participate today, can you change your mind later?

Yes. You may withdraw from the study at any time without consequences of any kind. You can also refuse to answer any questions you don't want to answer and still continue to participate. Withdrawing from the study or refusing to answer specific questions will not affect your eligibility for any services that are offered in your state.

❖ Will you contact me again?

Yes. We may contact you in about 2 years when you are 23 years old to see if you are interested in being interviewed again.
